About the client

The University of Oxford is a collegiate research University in Oxford, England.

It is the oldest university in the English-speaking world and the world's second-oldest university in continuous operation.

With extensive teaching and research across 39 constituent colleges and large numbers of projects, the University has a significant requirement for translation, interpreting and transcription services.

How do we support the university

Since 2017, Prestige Network has been providing managed language services to the University, including translation, digital content localisation, interpreting, desktop publishing and transcription.

This follows a contract award after winning a competitive tender.

We translate thousands of pages and transcribe hundreds of hours of audio each year for a large number of clients across the many academic departments and administrative bodies within the university.

More recently the service has expanded to accommodate the growing use of video content, where we provide subtitling and voice-over.

The outcome

Prestige Network built an in-depth understanding of Oxford University's needs and the processes involved when commission projects.

This streamlines the business process and ensures that each clients receives fast response to their requests, and assured delivery.
